

Contents

Economic Botany Volume 60 Number 1

- 3 Plant Knowledge of the Shuhi in the Hengduan Mountains, Southwest China Caroline S. Weckerle, Franz K. Huber, Yang Yongping, and Sun Weibang
- 24 A Regression Analysis of Q'eqchi' Maya Medicinal Plants from Southern Belize Virginie Treyvaud Amiguet, John Thor Arnason, Pedro Maquin, Victor Cal, Pablo Sánchez-Vindas, and Luis Poveda Alvarez
- 39 How Ancient Agriculturalists Managed Yield Fluctuations through Crop Selection and Reliance on Wild Plants: An Example from Central India M. L. Smith
- 49 Plant Diversity in Paddy Fields in Relation to Agricultural Practices in Savannakhet Province, Laos Yasuyuki Kosaka, Shinya Takeda, Saysana Sithirajvongsa, and Khamleck Xaydala
- 62 Cultural, Practical, and Economic Value of Wild Plants: A Quantitative Study in the Bolivian Amazon Victoria Reyes-García, Tomás Huanca, Vincent Vadez, William Leonard, David Wilkie
- 75 The Ethnobotany of Pluchea carolinensis (Jacq.) G. Don (Asteraceae) in the Botánicas of Miami, Florida Stephen Hodges and Bradley C. Bennett

Notes on Economic Botany

- 85 Talking Books: A New Method of Returning Ethnobiological Research Documentation to the Non-Literate Nathaniel Bletter

Departments

- 91 Book Reviews

Front cover image by Caroline S. Weckerle and Franz K. Huber.